TURNER'S MOTHER IS HEARTBROKEN

MAN RECENTLY SHOT BY HIS WIFE HAD SEVERAL RELA-TIVES AT ENSLEY, ALA.

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, has been received by The Journal from a sister of Francis M.
Turner, who was recently shot and killed by his wife in this city:

In regard to the tragic death of Francis Turner, my brother, in the city of Pensacola at the hands of his wife, on Nov. 2, I wish to state that he has a heartbroken mother, two sisters, and one brother, residing in Ensley, Ala.

We noticed two accounts in the paper with no mention of his mother, but stating that his father was in Mobile.

His mother is prostrated with grief over the untimely death of her darling boy. Respectfully,

MRS. E. P. McGLATHRY, Ensley, Ala., Nov. 5th, 1905.

To Our Friends,
Our friends and patrons can find us at No. 37 South Palafox street, still engaged in the Real Estate and Insurance business. Although greatly inconvenienced as a result of the big fire we are temporarily installed at the above number, and can look after our patrons just the same. The big fire should be an example to every one, and should most certainly be a potent reason why every one should insure, or increase their insurance.

A Chinese Story.
"There was once upon a time a very unfilial son," said a Chinaman. "So disobedient was he that if his father told him to go to the east he would go to the west; if his father told him to go to the west he invariably went to the east. All his life long he had been disobedient. At last the old man, as he lay on his deathbed, greatly feared that his unfaithful son would not take the trouble to bury him in a favorable spot. After much cogitation he thought of a plan for insuring what is of such vital importance in Chinese eyes. 'If I die,' he said, 'you must bury me in the water.' The father concluded that, in accordance with his usual line of conduct, the son would do the exact opposite of what he was told. So, after congratulating himself, no doubt, on his astuteness in arranging to get buried in a good place on dry land, the old man died. But, alas, his admirable scheme failed. After the father's death the young man said to himself:
'All my lifetime I have disobeyed my father. Now that he is dead I will obey him this once.' So, in scrupulous obedience to the dying injunction, he buried his father in the water."

EARLY PAYMENTS

To My Patrons:
In the recent disastrous fire I was a heavy loser, nearly everything I had being a total loss. If those of my patrons whose accounts I was carrying will endeavor to make an early settlement, it will be sincerely appreciated and it will assist me materially in getting on my feet again.

Feed Is More Than Breed

THE right feed will convert the veriest scrub into a paying animal. Add Surene Dairy Feed to the present ration. Note the immediate gain in milk and the improved appearance of the cow. The extra milk more than pays for the feed, while the evidence of better health indicates the complete assimilation of Surene Dairy Feed and a greater utilization of the roughage.
It's the business end of the ration.

POST PONE MENT IN THE ROCH CASE

The Defendant Was Present in Court, But Witnesses
Were Absent.

The trial of M. L. Roch, charged with having refused to allow a corps of fumigators to enter his premises for the purpose of fumigating, did not occur yesterday morning as was anticipated. The defendant with his attorney was present when the case was called, but it was found that most of the witnesses, both for the defense and prosecution were absent, and it was decided to continue the case until to-day, when it is hoped the witnesses will be present and the case settled.

The defendant is determined to fight the case to an end. When he failed in his fight to secure a permanent injunction against the fumigators, he determined to carry the case to higher courts, so refused the fumiga-tors admittance to his home, and of course was arrested.

He will appeal the case to a higher court should the decision in the police court be adverse to him.

STATE TREASURY NOW HAS BURGLAR ALARM

Treasurer Knott does not intend that any of the State's money shall get away illegitimately if he can prevent it. He is now having installed a complete system of protection authorized by the recent Legislature, and constructed by the American Bank Protection Company. It consists of chilled steel lining of the vault containing the two burglar-proof safes, said lining being insulated and electrically connected with three large alarm gongs, governed by time-set machinery and guaranteed to "raise the town" if any one should attempt an entrance into the vault between the closing and opening hours.
—Tallahassee True Democrat.

Too Complacent.
Mr. Grote, the historian of Greece, seemed incapable of caring for his self when moved by consideration for others. His exaggerated acquiescence in what he thought a constructive obligation is illustrated by the last sitting he gave to Millais, who painted his portrait.

The studio was cold. Mr. Grote had removed his overcoat and presently felt sensibly chilled. Yet he did not complain nor resume his overcoat.

"Why did you not say you were chilled?" asked Mrs. Grote when she learned the circumstances.

"I did not like to appear to reproach Mr. Millais for letting the fire go out."

"Well, but there was your thick overcoat?"

"Yes, but I did not know if he would like me to put it on."

"What could one do with a man so incapable of caring for his own absolute necessities?" remarks Mrs. Grote in her "Personal Life" of her husband.
"Had I been present, it is superfluous to say, all these scruples would have gone for nothing."
